

Design, digital and motion brought together.

Hello.

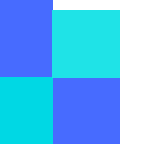

Hi, I'm Justin, but most people call me Jug. I'm dad to three great boys, husband to one lovely wife and best friend to a sappy black labrador.

I've been working in design for over 37 years, starting out in print before moving into digital, web and motion. I've spent much of that time working in design studios and agencies, delivering work for clients across a wide range of industries, and I'm now in my ninth year working independently.

These days, I deliver digital experiences through motion, web and design, creating work that is clear, engaging and built to perform.

Creative.
Trusted.
Supportive.

A blend of creative thinking and technical delivery across motion, web and design.

Motion.

THE ULTIMATE BOON

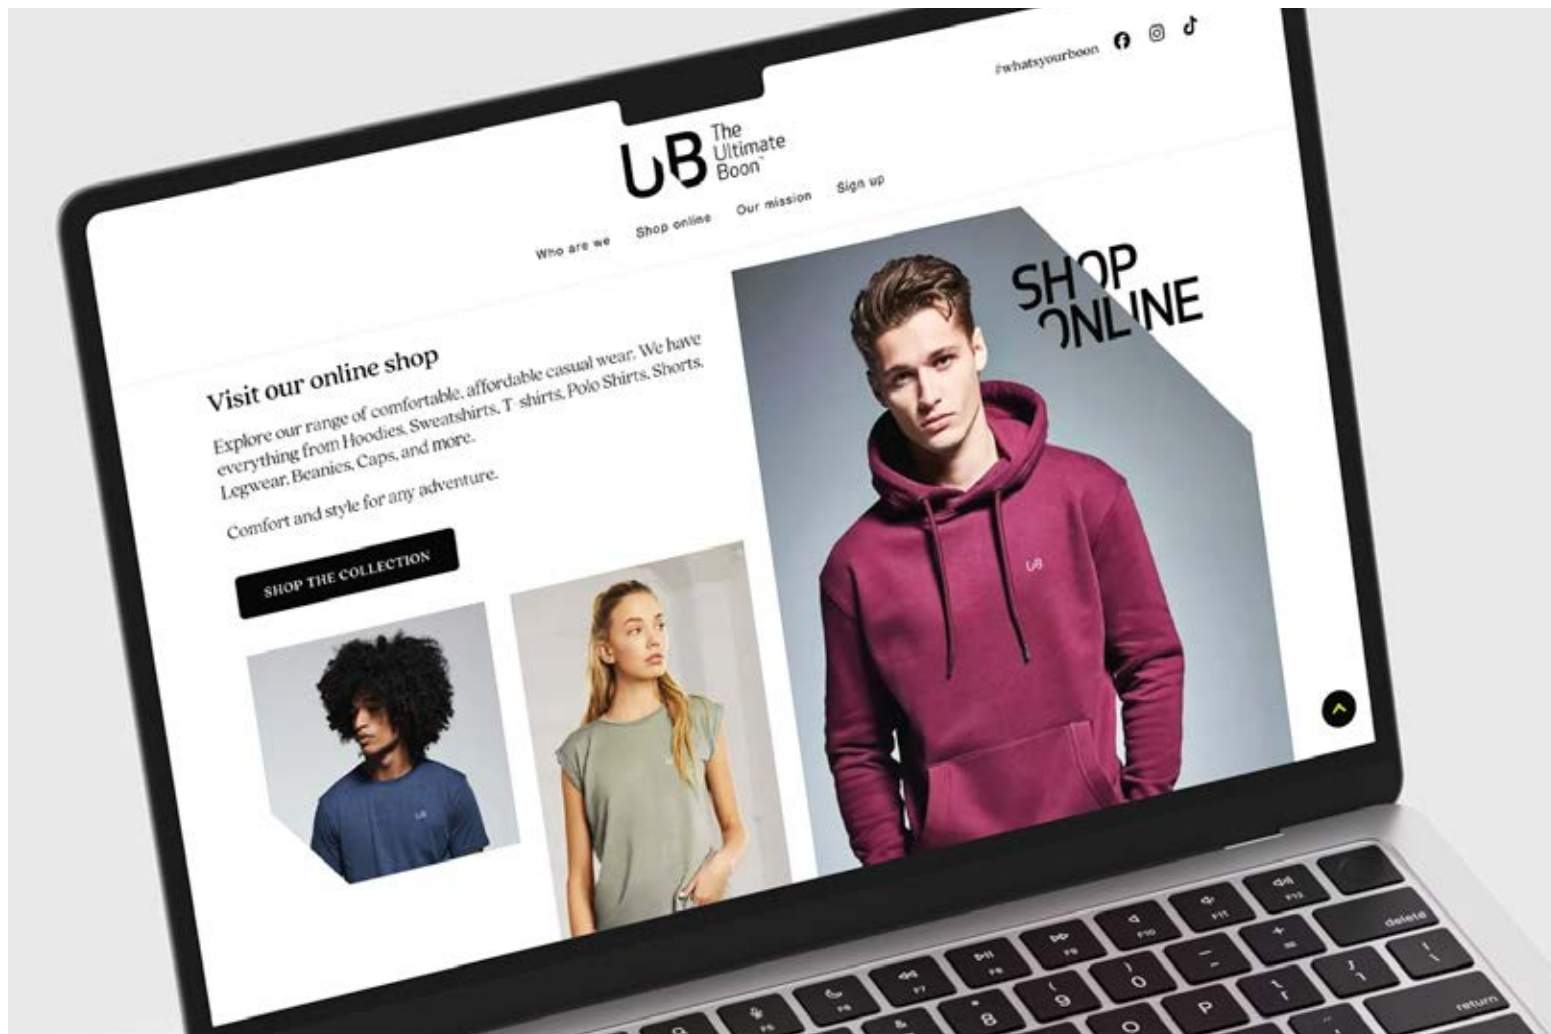

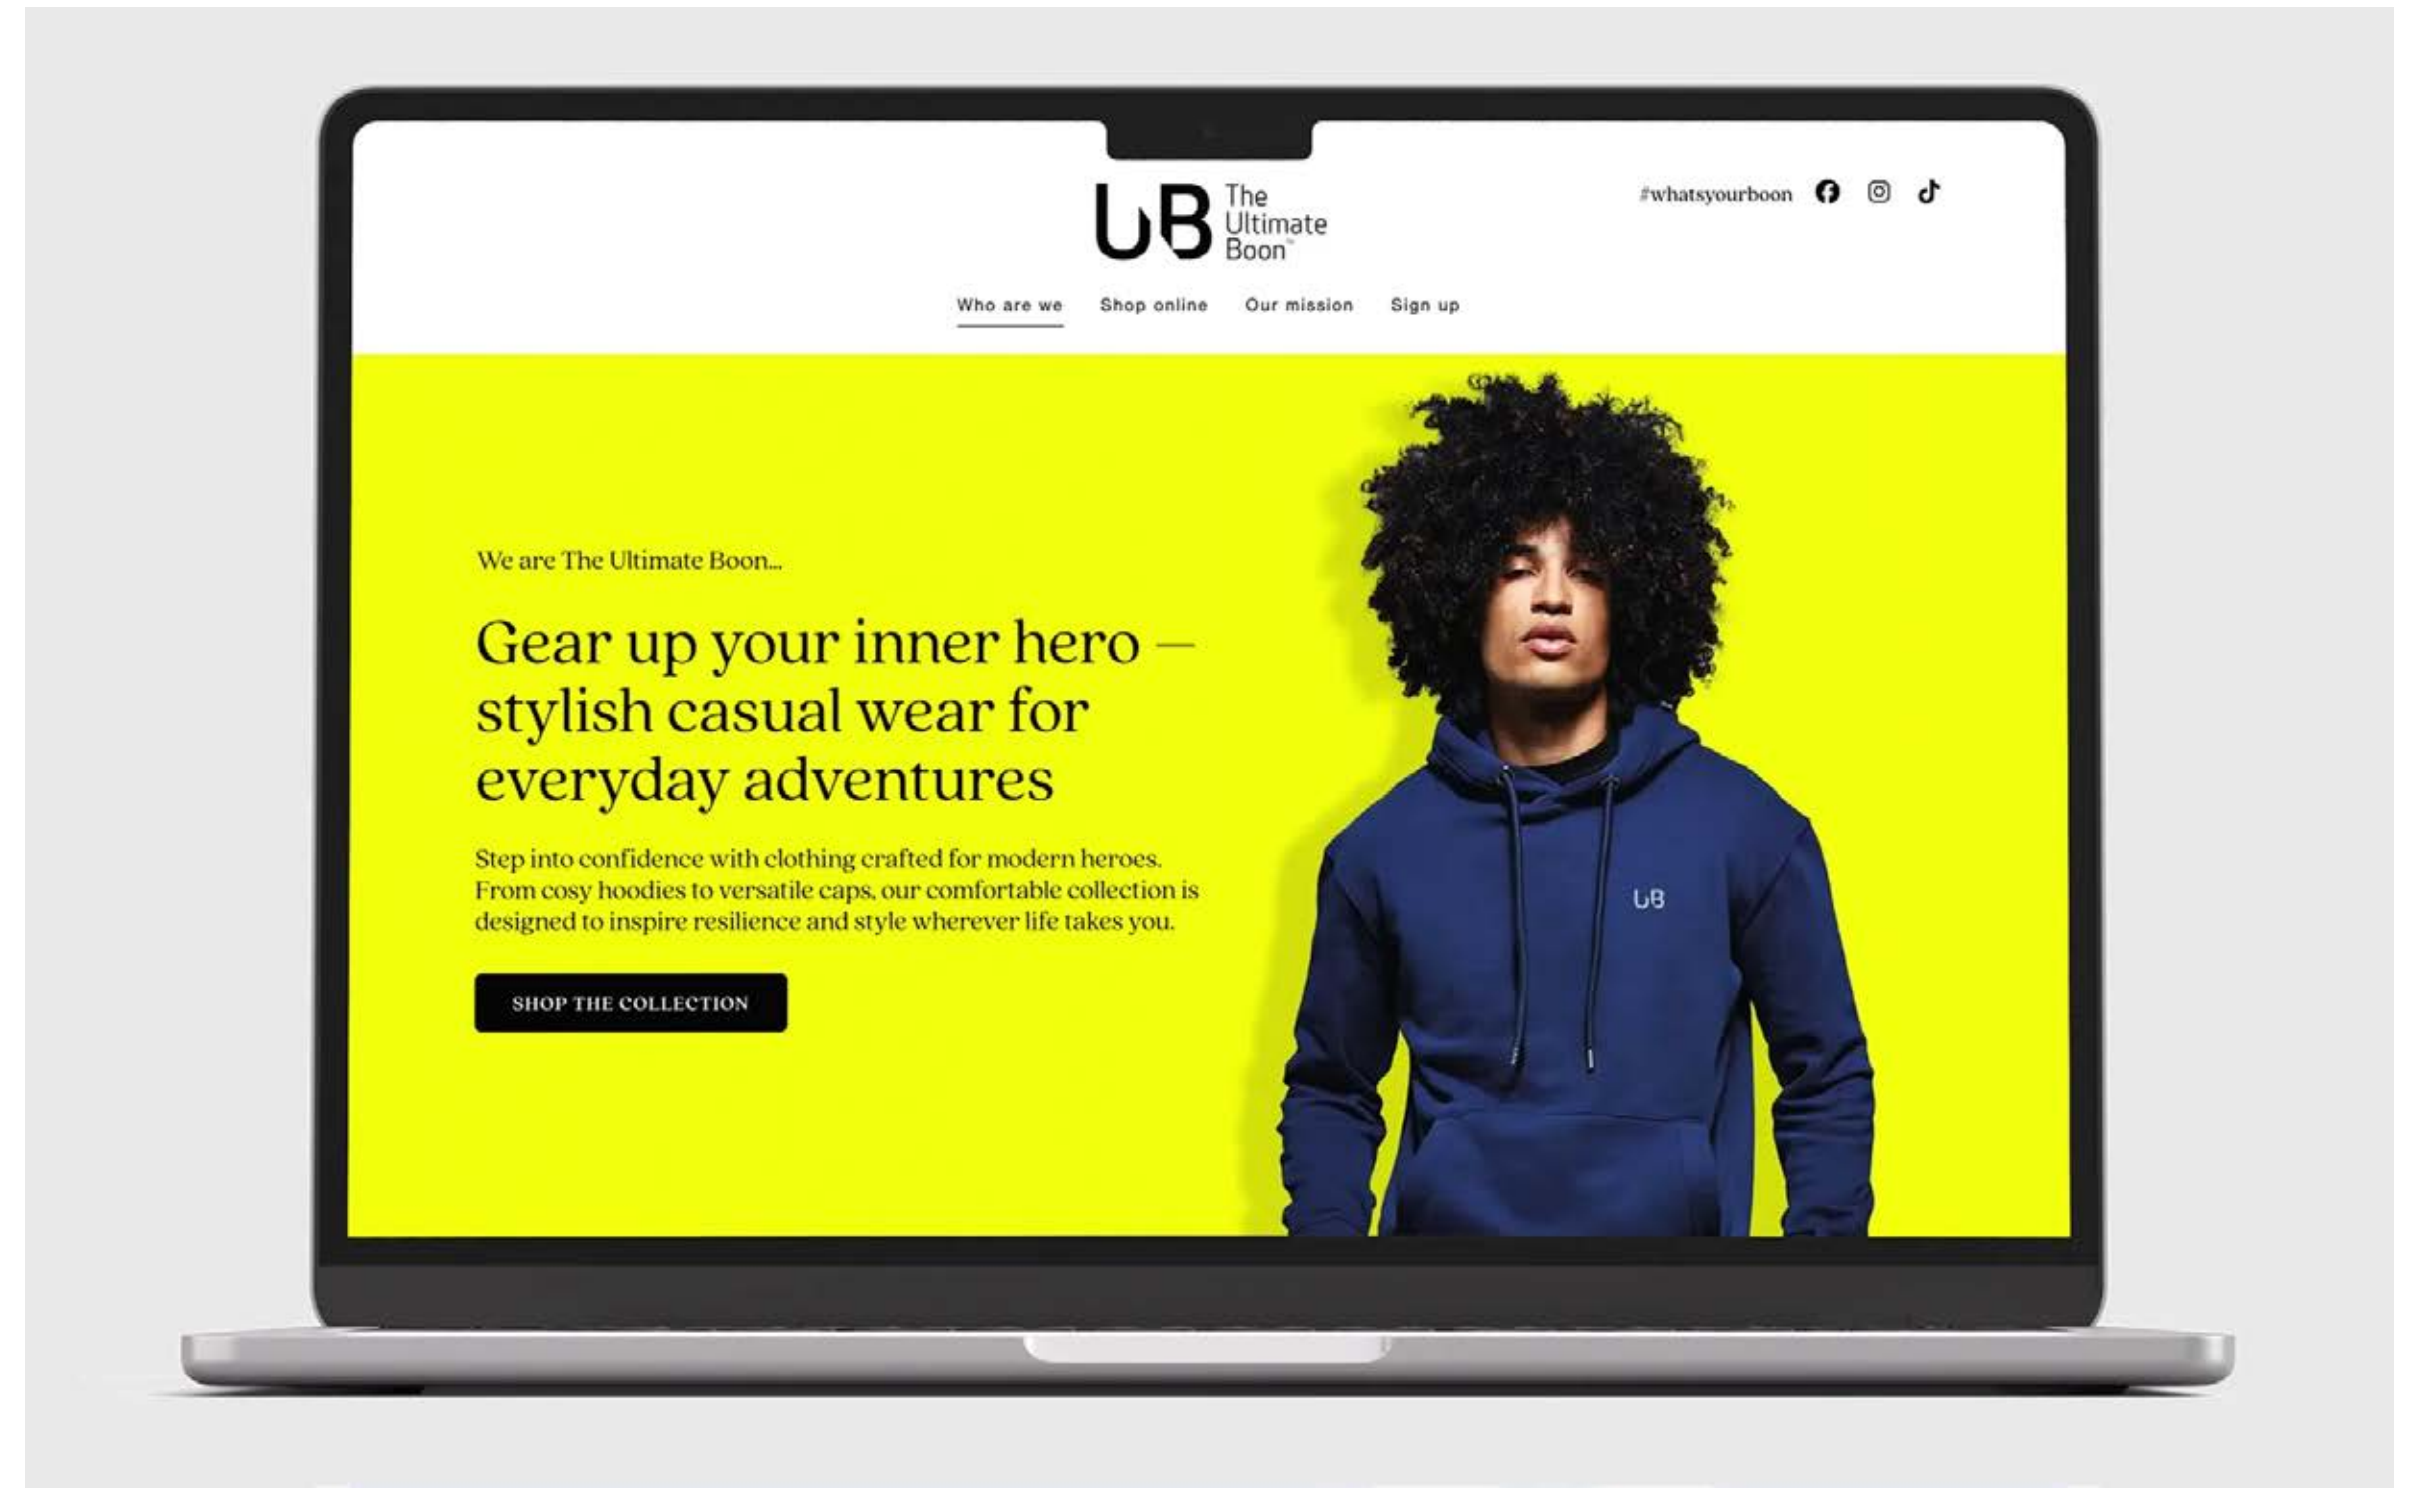

The Ultimate Boon

Fashion

A startup clothing brand built from the ground up. I created the full brand concept and identity, delivering the website, online store and social presence from idea to launch.

Scope of Work

- Brand identity
- Graphic design for print
- Responsive website design & development
- Shopify store creation
- Social media asset creation & posts
- Website hosting & ongoing support

Building a Brand with Meaning

A brand created to connect on a deeper level, giving people something to relate to and wear with purpose.

From identity through to product and digital, the focus was on building a clear and consistent visual language.

Optimised Article & Insights Experience

The Insights section was redesigned to present the content in a more structured, article-focused format.

Posts were categorised, and a filtering system was introduced, making it easier for visitors to browse topics and discover relevant financial insights.

We've worked with Justin on several projects, from small updates to major website improvements, and every experience has been a pleasure.

He's professional, easy to work with, and consistently delivers high-quality results.
